Compensate Personal Injury Network CONFERENCE 2019

Our main conference will feature a panel discussion on “Roberton - What next?”. This session will be chaired by Douglas Mill (DM Consulting) with an expert panel: Lisa Henderson (Advocate), John Mulholland (The Law Society of Scotland) and David Wilson (Digby Brown).

This interactive session will give you the opportunity to discuss with the panel what the future of Law might look like, what has been done in the past and being done now that can and will change going forward. The expectations of clients is ever evolving!

The conference will also include four breakout sessions. These sessions will run twice on the day, you may select two sessions from the following options:

Pricing Transparency

Speaker: Gregor Angus (The Cashroom)

New price and service transparency requirements for the legal sector in England and Wales were implemented in 2018. Under the rules, all regulated law firms are required to proactively publish information on prices they charge. Gregor Angus will take a look at the experience south of the border, the implications for firms, and whether there are any lessons we can learn as the Law Society of Scotland goes through its own consultation on this topic.

Anti-Money Laundering

Speaker: Graham Mackenzie (The Law Society of Scotland)

Graham has 17 years' experience in a wide variety of financial crime-related roles within the financial sector. This includes complex money laundering investigations, international sanctions violations and project work, along with fraud strategy, analysis and investigation. Graham specialises in using this experience to help firms implement robust, proportional and practical AML controls/risk management frameworks.

Professional Negligence

Speaker: Robert Kernaghan (Digby Brown Solicitors)

The session will include discussion of the development of the law of loss of chance and a look at Perry v Raleys where claimant was unable to pursue a loss of chance which would have been dependent on his own dishonesty as well as the reviewing recent cases on prescription and whether the introduction of the Prescription (Scotland) Act 2018 solves the problems created for pursuers.

Childhood Abuse - A Legal Minefield

Speaker: Kim Leslie (Digby Brown Solicitors)

Kim Leslie our specialist in child abuse and non accidental injury will talk about the Limitation (Childhood Abuse) (Scotland) Act and how the cases are being run in practice.
